BAA ARTIST NEWS

August News 2022

Encouraging creativity in visual arts and serving the community since 1950.

President's Message - Mimi Rossi

Hello fellow artists!

It's time to get together for a paint/art al fresco get together! If you would like to join fellow members, we are meeting at the Old L.A. Zoo at Griffith Park on Sunday, August 14th 12n-3p. This is an open event – bring friends and family. And if you would like, bring refreshments to share. It will be a big Plein Air/Artist's Picnic.

Please RSVP here: <https://bit.ly/3J8Aynh> or send an email to president@burbankartassociation.org

Hopefully, you got a chance to see Karen Sachs' first curated group show, "Soul Expression Art Exhibit." She pulled together artists from as far away as New Zealand! It was a fun and enlightening show, as each wall was attributed to a theme. Congratulations Karen on a successful show!

Bugged! Is up next at the Geo Gallery – I have to admit, I've been struggling with this one. I like bugs, but painting something that bugs me is another thing – how can I put on canvas all the things that bug me...hmmm. Guess I'll have to narrow it down, ha ha. I can't wait to see everyone's interpretations!

The rest of the year is packed with member exhibits at The Geo Gallery. Check the calendar and see what your fellow members are up to.

Why do you create?

"I paint flowers so they will not die."

~ Frida Kahlo

Wishing you a comfortable summer!

Mimi Rossi

July has been an exciting month of art for BAA member Karen Sachs. As you all know, she curated her first group show, "Soul Expression," at the GEO Gallery, but she was also in three other art shows. In July, she had seventeen art pieces out in the world to see. So fun!!!

One of the shows, Art International Abstract Show, had an online abstract show, and Karen's "I Have No Words" received the Talent Award, plus four of the other pieces she submitted, were in the Finalist section.
